Women gathering in the Spirit to grow closer to Christ Jesus

The Fellowship of Catholic Christian Women will begin Thursday, September 12th, here at Our Lady of Guadalupe Monastery. They meet two Thursdays a month from 10a.m. until noon. All sisters in Christ are invited to join them as they embrace and experience the presence of the Holy Spirit through fellowship and study. The book this year is THE LAMB'S SUPPER. The author, Scott Hahn, reveals why Pope John Paul II described the Mass as "Heaven on Earth". THE LAMB'S SUPPER unveils a long-lost secret of the Church: the early Christians' key to understanding the mysteries of the Mass was the New Testament's Book of Revelation. Join them in exploring the supernatural drama that enfolds each of us during every Mass.

From the desk of Sr. Linda.....

Greetings One and All....as a child growing up it was always wonderful to have a 3 month vacation from school....these days the summer break has been cut to 2 months and schools are back in session. I hope that you had a good break during those two months and are ready to get back into the school schedule.

We are in the process of getting estimates to pave the back parking lot. Due to the various times we have rain, the parking lot takes quite a beating. The best solution seems to be the paving, so that we don't get the ditches in the parking lot and the drainage situation will be better controlled. We will let you know when you will not be able to go to the back for parking.

The back porch at Hildegard has been framed in and is a nice space for additional use. As we finished up the porch we decided to paint the whole exterior of Hildegard house. It should be all set for the future.

We also enclosed the carport at Scholastica House and made it into a garage.

It has been a busy summer, but many of the lists have been checked off, as you can see from the list above.

Blessings, Sister Linda

Do you ever worry? If so, why do you worry? Then next: when do you worry? Still more: does your worrying help you in any way you can think? Finally, what is it that can bring your worrying to a halt? Jesus had three friends who were sisters with their brother: Mary, Martha, and Lazarus. They lived not too far from the city of Jerusalem in a town called Bethany. Jesus was their friend and their guest. Jesus loved these three and found warmth and comfort to go to their home and visit. However, on one occasion there surfaces from the heart and lips of Martha an intense worry. The reason for the worry? By nature Mary was more of a contemplative. This means that Mary thrived on silence, reflection, and contemplation. On the contrary, Martha was a ball of energy! By nature very active, Martha liked to get things done. She was a planner and an organizer. A homemaker and cook, she liked things to turn out according to her plans and schedule. The life of prayer or the life of contemplation has a supremely important role. It was precisely this that Jesus is trying to teach the world through the incident in Bethany and the tension that existed between Martha and Mary—two very good and holy sisters, but very different in temperament and character. In fact Mary symbolizes all the different gestures we should strive to implement so as to live out a more contemplative lifestyle. One of the reasons why we fall into the trap of being “Worry-warts” is that we can easily neglect the contemplative dimension in our lives. We can easily fall into activism. We can fall into the proverbial modern malady that we call the workaholic. We can fall into Marthaism. Therefore, when you find yourself nervous, tense, emotionally drained, frenetically moving from one activity to the next, like a robot—in a word, you are all stressed out and really bent out of shape, you will know the reason why! You have become too much Martha and not enough Mary. A grace to pray for: to strike a harmonious blend between the Martha and the Mary in your life, the harmonious integration of a deep prayer life and zealous active life of fraternal charity.
